2,473—the number of four-year colleges in the United States
30,000—the approximate enrollment at a state university

At Huntingdon YOU will never be a number.
Thank you for your interest in Huntingdon College!

We invite you to explore the campus through the pictures and words in this viewbook. Huntingdon is a place where ideas come alive and are put into action; where action changes our community and our world; and where faith deepens our conviction to serve.

There are three steadfast traditions of Huntingdon College: Faith, Wisdom, and Service. We have gathered great minds to teach and to mentor you through your college experience. Huntingdon faculty and staff do more than offer knowledge—they work with you to create new pathways for your life. As you explore the world in classroom discussions, in student life experiences, and as part of the Huntingdon Plan, you will discover more about your gifts, the world’s needs, and where those two dynamics converge. You will also make a lifetime of friends.

Come to Huntingdon if you want to know more, do more, be more. Come to Huntingdon and be known.

For the College,

J. Cameron West
President

“Enter to grow in wisdom; go forth to apply wisdom in service.”
——the Huntingdon College motto
There’s a tradition at Huntingdon that sets this college apart from any other—a dynamic, life-changing set of opportunities we call The Huntingdon Plan, which includes:

- Fixed Tuition—budget for all four years of enrollment with no increases in tuition.
- Travel/Study—travel and study with your classmates during your senior year, with most costs covered by tuition and fees.
- A Laptop Computer—yours to keep at graduation.
- Involved Learning—engage fully through experiences that heighten your skills and give you career direction.
- Real Life Liberal Arts—expand your mind and open new professional possibilities.
- A “Know and be Known” Atmosphere—live college life—every minute of all four years. At Huntingdon, you will be part of a community where values, faith, and honor matter.

Huntingdon is more than a college. It’s a tradition.
You won’t ever be a number here…

... but you are so much more than your name. Your professors, coaches, advisers, and Huntingdon staff will know you—you interests, passions, talents, and dreams—and will support you on your journey to success in the real world.

You will never be lost in a crowd at Huntingdon, where classes are small and leadership opportunities in student organizations are abundant.

What does this mean for you? You will be known, both in the classroom and in student life. At Huntingdon, you’re family.
Roll up your sleeves…

... and get ready to do more and know more than you ever thought possible. This is liberal arts for real life success—a mind-broadening, stretch-your-limits way of learning that gets you ready to take on the world. Get involved, lead, intern, serve, travel, research, discuss, question, and understand. You will learn from everything you do, and at Huntingdon, you will do many, many things.

While knowledge and experience are part of the journey, the destination is your decision. As you plan your future, your faculty mentors will guide you and the Center for Career and Vocation will be your resource. Before you walk across Top Stage on the Green to accept your diploma, you will choose the next step in your life—and you will be ready for it.
Relationships.

Besides the Huntingdon Plan, the people and the relationships they form distinguish Huntingdon from other colleges. Connections are made in small classes taught by professors who not only challenge you, but also take the time to help you understand. Through the many clubs and organizations, as well as in the residence halls and the gathering places peppered around campus, people who share the same interests come together.

Just a few days after you walk through the front doors of Flowers Hall, you could be meeting with a study group in the Coffee House or on the Green, sharing a potato sack during Greek Week, working alongside a faculty member in research, building a Habitat, winning an intramural or intercollegiate trophy, taking a Student Life “Mystery Trip” with friends, and making life-long memories.

When Huntingdon people come together, the possibilities are powerful.

Success comes from experience

Most majors at Huntingdon emphasize learning by doing, turning knowledge into skills for professional success. After all, when you graduate, you want more than just a degree, you want a résumé filled with experiences to carry you forward.

- Motivated students who meet entrance qualifications may add more depth to the educational experience through Huntingdon’s Hobbs Honors Program.
- Senior Capstone courses put knowledge and skills to work in a culminating experience for many Huntingdon majors.
- Internships are available on campus in programs such as our Ability Sport Network; in federal and state government or non-profit agencies through our Hawks on the Hill program; or in numerous placements around the capital city.
- Research, an essential skill in any field, is part of every major. Biology students complete field research at Huntingdon’s Bowman Ecological Study Center and may study at Dauphin Island Sea Lab. Every Chemistry or Biochemistry major completes student/faculty research.
- Service puts your heart into your hands as you improve the community.
- Teacher Candidate clinical experiences are part of P–12, elementary, or secondary Educator Preparation.
- Abundant performance opportunities provide experience for Music students.
- Travel/study is an affordable option for every full-time student through the Huntingdon Plan, with most costs covered by regular tuition and fees.
- The Center for Career and Vocation hosts workshops, job fairs, and graduate school fairs to prepare students for life after Huntingdon.
Open your mind…

… and pour in the knowledge. The power of a Huntingdon education comes from two sources: the breadth of knowledge gained from liberal arts classes enables you to follow multiple career paths, while the depth of knowledge and experience in your major positions you for success in the field you choose. The result: placement rates into graduate or professional schools or employment upon graduation that far exceed national averages, including nearly 100% placement into the professional study of pharmacy, dentistry, medicine, optometry, physical therapy, occupational therapy, and law.

As a Huntingdon graduate, you will be ready for the real world when it’s your turn to enter it.
Ask any student at Huntingdon...

...what sets this College apart from any other, and two answers will come up—the family atmosphere and the faculty. At Huntingdon, faculty dedicate their time to teach and to mentor students. They meet with students outside of class, conduct study sessions for tests, give out their personal contact information, and, in every way, demonstrate that the success of every student is the focus of everything they do.

Since Huntingdon is Dr. Murphy’s undergraduate alma mater, she has personal experience with the power of a Huntingdon education and the faculty mentoring that takes place here. “Huntingdon College began my career path in chemistry, which led me to doctoral studies and teaching at the University of South Carolina and post-doctoral research and teaching at the University of Chicago. When I was able to come back home to Huntingdon as a member of the faculty, I couldn’t imagine a better fit for my life, because helping students find and fulfill their potential is what I care most about as a teacher and faculty mentor.”
Huntingdon graduates’ placement rates into graduate and professional programs in medicine, law, pharmacy, dentistry, physical therapy, occupational therapy, optometry, and other areas of study far surpass the national averages—in some cases, they are 100%.

Ranked in the top tier of regional colleges by U.S. News and World Report and consistently listed in the Princeton Review’s “The Best Colleges: Region by Region,” Huntingdon has for four years been recognized on the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Washington Monthly, which ranks colleges on the basis of their contribution to the public good, places Huntingdon in the top 15% of 346 baccalaureate colleges.

As long as ever you can.”

What Makes a Place Feel Like Home?

It’s where you feel comfortable, safe, surrounded by people who care about you. No wonder the word students most often choose to describe Huntingdon is “home.”

Huntingdon offers three residence halls and a vibrant campus living experience that reinforces the spirit of the College: family and community. For commuters, an active Commuter Student Organization makes you feel right at home.

Nestled in the historic Old Cloverdale neighborhood of Montgomery, the heart of the campus is the Green, surrounded by buildings of Collegiate Gothic architecture and pathways where you meet friendly faces at every turn. Just a block from campus you can grab a pizza, take in an artsy movie, or browse the books at Capitol Book & News. Walk, jog, or bike through safe residential neighborhoods filled with towering trees. Around Montgomery, the state’s capital city, visit the church where Martin Luther King Jr. preached, take in a play at the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, or enjoy an evening of baseball with the Montgomery Biscuits. Downtown, a vibrant night life lights up the Riverfront in this beautiful college town, home to five colleges and universities.

Just 90 miles north you’ll find Birmingham, Alabama’s largest city. Three hours east is Atlanta; three hours south are Mobile and the beautiful beaches on the Gulf of Mexico; and four hours away are Nashville, Memphis, and New Orleans.

Quality Education at an Affordable Price

Four-year state, public institutions such as the University of Alabama and Auburn University have raised tuition and fees at a rate of more than 10% per year over the past few years. Huntingdon College, with a guaranteed Fixed Tuition rate for four years, offers institutional financial aid to 100% of its student body, making the average cost less over four years compared to Alabama and Auburn.

Fixed Tuition
Huntingdon’s Fixed Tuition promise is the only one of its kind in the region. Fixed Tuition means that your tuition cost will remain the same during four consecutive years of full-time enrollment, allowing your family to budget for college costs without the worry of future tuition price increases.
